Two Strategic Focus Areas Were Identified as High Leverage Based on Internal and External Screening Criteria

Over a 10-year period, these two focus areas are the core strategy for statewide impact

Maine's College Attainment Rates Are Below Expectations, Particularly Given the Performance of New England Peers

Rates of Attainment for a Bachelor's Degree vs. Rates of Attainment for a High School Diploma

*Education Attainment by State
Adults 25 Years and Over*

Source: 2010 US Census Data

High School Graduates' Aspirations, Enrollment and Persistence Rates Contribute to the Gap from High School Graduation to College Attainment

Projected Educational Attainment of Public School Graduates

While 85% of Maine 9th graders are expected to graduate from high school (77% nationally), only 47% (52% nationally) will enroll in college and only 30% (32% nationally) will earn a college degree

Source: Maine Education Policy Research Institute, Maine Department of Education, and National Center for Education Statistics.

The College Degree Premium

$21,528 more per year (63% pay increase) & almost half the unemployment rate for those earning a bachelor's degree vs. those with a HS diploma only

The earnings gap based on education status has grown dramatically since 2000

Source: Bureau of Labor Statistics, Current Population Survey (https://www.bls.gov/empl/ep_chart_001.htm), May 22, 2013

The College Degree Premium in Maine

Young adults in Maine with an Associate or Bachelor's college degree earn $7,000 to $10,000 more a year than those with only a high school diploma. After twenty years in the workforce, this income gap grows to $12,000 (Associate) to $31,000 (Bachelor's).

For the College Educated: Increased Employment Opportunities

Increased employment in the U.S. over the past two decades has been among workers who have taken some college classes or who have associate or bachelor's degrees, but mostly among workers with bachelor's degrees. During the 1992–2009 period, the number of college-educated workers increased from 27 million to 44 million. In contrast, the number of employed people with a high school diploma or without a high school diploma has decreased from 47 million to 44 million.

Proven Activities to Increase College Enrollment Rates

Students Participating in Certain College Access Activities Are Much More Likely to Enroll in and Graduate from College

Young adults whose high schools offered the programs cited reporting participation

Most Influential Activities for Students

(in order of impact)

1. College visits
2. In-class college planning
3. College presentation at high school
4. College fairs

Source: Mitchell Institute, Barriers to Postsecondary Education in Maine, July 2002

Parental Engagement and Involvement is Critical

Students with Parents who are Proactive in College Planning Are Much More Likely to Enroll in and Graduate from College

Most Influential Activities for Parents (in order of impact)

1. Spoke with Admissions professional
2. Attended college open house
3. Spoke with financial aid advisor
4. Researched college planning and options

How much more likely to attain a college degree were students whose parents participated in a particular college access activity, compared to those students whose parents did not participate?

Parents without college degrees are the least likely to take these action steps to help students plan for college – though participate more in events held at schools

High school curriculum has a great impact on college persistence

College persistence rates by high school curriculum and by parents' education

First-generation students persist in college at almost the same rate when completing a rigorous high school curriculum, minimizing the impact of parents' education

Source: US Dept of Education, NCEES, Indicator 23

Basic curriculum: 4 yrs English & 3 yrs of math, science & social studies
 Rigorous curriculum: 4 yrs English and math (including pre-calculus);
 3 yrs of foreign language, social studies and science (including biology, chemistry and physics); 1 honors/AP course

Academic Preparation Rate

College enrollment rates by students' highest math course taken and by parents' education

Taking one additional math course makes a big difference!

- Parents with high school diploma or less
- Parents with bachelor's degree

First generation students enroll in college at almost twice the rate when completing a math course beyond Algebra II

American Council on Education

FAFSA Completion Rate Financial Aid – The Great Equalizer

College Enrollment Rates

When academically prepared and taking the necessary steps toward college admission, low-income students enroll at the same high rate as middle-income students

Proven Best Practices of College Access Programs

Required College Access Services for the Connect Aspirations to a Plan Grant

- No carve-outs – ALL students need assistance
- Require data reporting and opportunity for timely data analysis
- Fund Grant Coaches – outside the grant - provide technical support and encouragement as well as promote accountability (Medomak Valley HS Coach: Ed Nunery)
- Program for Eighth Graders to ensure successful transition to HS
- Engage Parents – #1 challenge for all grantees
- College Visits – in-state and out-of-state, small and large campuses, 2-year and 4-year – ideally for all sophomores and juniors
- Give PSAT/PLAN to all sophomores and juniors – all students “college material”
- Give PSAT and/or SAT/ACT to all juniors – all students taking necessary steps to apply to college
- Program to ensure successful transition to post-secondary institutions
- Summer interviews – during July following graduation from HS
- College Enrollment survey – conducted in fall following high school graduation; documents the number of students who actually enrolled in college. In addition, graduates from the previous school year that enrolled in college are contacted.
